Vicki Bellino is a leading expert in EPP. Her quilts have won numerous awards, and she teaches workshops and classes to help others learn this beautiful art form.

What is English Paper Piecing?

EPP is a quilt-making technique in which fabric is stitched around paper templates. The templates are then removed, leaving behind perfectly pieced blocks.

EPP is a great way to create intricate designs that would be difficult or impossible to create by hand-quilting alone.

How to Start English Paper Piecing

To get started with EPP, you will need the following materials:

- Fabric
- Paper templates
- Needle and thread
- Scissors

Once you have your materials, you can follow these steps to create your own EPP quilt:

1. Choose a quilt pattern. 2. Cut out the paper templates for the quilt pattern. 3. Stitch the fabric around the paper templates. 4. Remove the paper templates. 5. Assemble the quilt blocks. 6. Quilt the quilt top. 7. Bind the quilt.

Tips for English Paper Piecing

Here are a few tips to help you get started with English Paper Piecing:

- Start with a simple pattern. As you gain experience, you can move on to more complex patterns.
- Use a small needle and fine thread. This will help you to create precise stitches.
- Take your time and enjoy the process. EPP is a relaxing and rewarding technique.

Vicki Bellino's Workshops and Classes

Vicki Bellino offers a variety of workshops and classes to help others learn the art of English Paper Piecing. Her workshops are designed for all levels of quilters, from beginners to experienced quilters.

In her workshops, Vicki teaches participants the basics of EPP, including how to choose fabrics, cut paper templates, and stitch the fabric around the templates. She also provides participants with a variety of tips and techniques to help them create beautiful quilts.
