In this article, we will take a photo journey through the history of the Czech psytrance scene, from its early beginnings in the 1990s to its current status as one of the most respected scenes in the world.

The Early Years

The Czech psytrance scene began in the early 1990s, as part of the larger electronic dance music movement that was sweeping the country at the time. The first psytrance parties were held in small clubs and warehouses, and the music was often dark and experimental.

Some of the early pioneers of the Czech psytrance scene included DJs such as Zdenek "Zen" Specinger, Martin "Zenit" Hrdina, and Jakub "Kuba" Jirousek. These DJs helped to popularize the genre and lay the groundwork for its future development.

The Golden Age

The late 1990s and early 2000s were the golden age of the Czech psytrance scene. During this time, the genre exploded in popularity, and new DJs, producers, and organizers emerged.

Some of the most influential DJs of this era included Martin "Zenit" Hrdina, Jakub "Kuba" Jirousek, and Tomas "Tomcat" Mikyska. These DJs were known for their innovative sound and their ability to rock a crowd.
