Royal Holiday: The Wedding Date is a romantic comedy film about two strangers who are forced to spend Christmas together after their flights home are canceled. The film stars Nia Long and Eddie Cibrian.

Plot

The film follows the story of Maddie (Nia Long) and Miles (Eddie Cibrian), two strangers who are both trying to get home for Christmas. Maddie is a successful businesswoman who is traveling back to New York City to spend the holiday with her family. Miles is a struggling musician who is hoping to make it back to Los Angeles to spend Christmas with his girlfriend.

When their flights are canceled due to a snowstorm, Maddie and Miles are forced to spend the night together in a hotel. At first, they are both annoyed and frustrated, but they eventually start to get to know each other and realize that they have more in common than they thought.

As they spend more time together, Maddie and Miles start to fall in love. However, they both know that their time together is limited. Maddie has to go back to New York and Miles has to go back to Los Angeles. But before they go their separate ways, they decide to spend one last night together.

On Christmas morning, Maddie and Miles say their goodbyes and go their separate ways. But they both know that they will never forget each other.

Cast

- Nia Long as Maddie
